WILLIAM LEE CHEVIS

Bay youth's injuries prove fatal

William Lee Chevis, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Chevis, 704 Hancock St. Bay St. Louis, died in a Panama City, Fla. hospital 11 hours after being involved in a traffic accident which occurred at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Young Chevis, a graduate of Bay High School, and a friend, were returning to the Alabama Institute of Aeronautical Technology in Ozark, Ala., on motorcycles, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hill in Panama City.

The accident reportedly occurred when a speeding car passed Chevis' motorcycle and the driver of an oncoming car, which swerved to avoid collision, apparently lost control of the vehicle and struck the Chevis boy.

In addition to his parents he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Walter Saucier of Grenada, Miss.

Bids received for dietary supplies were submitted by: Bush Dairy, Smith Bakery, Coast Food, H.T. Cotton, South Counties, Ladner's Seafood, C and F Packing House, Cedar Lake Egg Farm, Foltz Tea, Merchant's Co., Colonial Bakery, and Borden's.

Bedsale Supply, Scientific Products, Zimmer Co., Southern Surgical Supplies and South Counties, submitted bids for x-ray, medical and laboratory supplies.

Schools gird for heavy enrollment

Schools throughout Hancock County are all expecting increased enrollment in the 1965-66 school year and advance preparation includes the hiring of more teachers and the purchase of additional furniture.

St. Clare's School in Waveland is increasing staff by one and anticipates an enrollment of 165, against 115 for last year. Annunciation School in Kiln has 108 enrolled, a figure almost triple that of two years ago, and in addition has a kindergarten of 15. Four volunteer teachers are expected to arrive this month. These will supplement the regular staff.

Our Lady of the Gulf School and St. Joseph Academy are both preparing for healthy student increases while St. Stanislaus College is expecting an enrollment of 400 students. St. Rose de Lima School will have 225 students registered this fall and in consequence is increasing its faculty to ten.

County system return date split

Hancock North Central School will commence operations at 8:30 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 13, according to Robert E. Ladner, Hancock County Superintendent of Education.

Pupil orientation and registration should be completed by 10:30 a.m. and all students home in time for lunch. The school is starting its school program approximately two weeks earlier than usual largely due to the necessity of providing band pupils and football players with transportation, said Ladner.

Gulfview (Lakeshore) and Logtown school will not be affected by the new schedule and will re-open at 8 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 27.

Four new teachers have been added to Hancock North Central School's staff. Two are for the elementary school. One each for the first and second grades, one for transportation supervisor and a junior high coach-driver education instructor combined.

The first full day of school will be Monday, Aug. 16, when students will report at 8 a.m. and be dismissed at 3 p.m.

One further item released by Ladner concerns piano and dancing lessons.

Mrs. Bessie Paul, who has taught piano, a p.d. dancing throughout the entire Gulf Coast region, is now to concentrate

City schools to open on Aug. 27

Bay St. Louis Schools, will officially open for registration at 9 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 27, according to J.D. McCulloch, superintendent of city schools. Operating on an approved budget of $553,692, the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District has employed 57 more teachers to handle an anticipated enrollment of approximately 2,250 students for the 1965-66 school year. Anticipating a record crowd in certain grades, McCulloch stated he expects about 1,675 white and 575 Negro students to register for the increase of 300, or 15 percent, last year.

McCulloch also stated that staff now consisted of 515 employees and his school cafeterias were projected to feed between 1,200 and 1,300 students daily.

All students are expected to be immunized against smallpox, hold, polio, and tetanus and have combination shots against tetanus, whooping cough and diphtheria before Aug. 27.

First grade students must be accompanied by their parents and bring their birth certificates. Such students must prove they will be six years old as of Jan. 1, 1966.

With class work scheduled to commence at 8:30 a.m. on Aug. 30, McCulloch stressed the importance of all high school students who have not selected their courses for next year to call at the high school principal's office between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. any day prior to the opening of school.

Due to State Department of Education fund allocation, transportation will be supplied only to those students living outside the city limits and all others must provide their own transportation to and from school.

Elementary students, first and second grades, and living inside the city limits of Bay St. Louis will register at the S.J. Ingram Elementary School.

Elementary students, first through fourth grades, and living outside the city limits of Bay St. Louis will register at Waveland Elementary School.

These students will be furnished transportation by the City School System.

Elementary students, third through fifth grades, will register at the City School System.

Waveland mail route doing well

With all new mailboxes allocated and most in place, Walter Turcotte, postmaster at Waveland, is requesting those people who have still not changed their mail boxes to do so as soon as possible.

The numbering system instituted by the Town of Waveland is not only for the benefit of the postoffice, said Turcotte, but also for the fire, police, utility companies, and even visiting strangers.

Fire units responding to calls are now proceeding to the new mailbox numbers, as are police and utility companies involved in answering emergency calls.

"So far the numbering system is very co-operative," said Turcotte. "We are now delivering mail to 440 homes. Home owners are interested in the numbering system and delivery is smoother than ever before."

Some confusion is expected by visitors who encounter the sets of identical numbers on several blocks apart. This situation will be eliminated as the numbers are changed.

Bay, Waveland lashed by storm

Communications took the worst beating on Sunday and Monday when high winds and lashing rains struck the area for two consecutive days.

Estimated at St. Stanislaus weather station to be in excess of 35 miles per hour, the winds toppled trees, tore down telephone lines and did minor damage to electrical cables.

Six hundred telephones were out of commission after the blow when winds of more than 70 miles per hour were registered at Pass Christian. Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Pearllington suffered severe communication interruptions during the storm and power lines were downed in places.

Also in Hancock General in fair condition is Cardenia Richardson, 67, Waveland, Negro, who suffered a six inch wound which penetrated his left lung, following an argument at the

for two astronauts to land on the moon and return to earth within this decade. The Saturn V rocket which will carry three men, one of whom will orbit the moon while the others land, consists of many component parts. The bulk of the 364-foot high rocket will be occupied by three separate stage designed to put the space vehicle into correct parking orbit. Mississippi Test Facility will be concerned with the S-IC first stage, or the blast-off stage designed to provide seven and a half million pounds of thrust for about two and one half minutes, and the S-II, or second stage, that will put out one million pounds of thrust for approximately six and a half minutes.

Five of the J-2 engines, for which MTF will provide repair and work facilities, operate on the S-II stage and one on S-IVB stage.

With early January 1966 cited as a probable date for first firing the S-II, Balch said only technical problems may cause delay.

The big item causing an intensification of activity at MTF was the decision to carry out development and design modification tests on the S-II stage on site.

"Our problems are all with the S-II," said Balch. "In this stage we have five J-2 motors and we have to check it out and see if the integrated engine works. A single J-2 engine presents no problems and they are already being test fired but we

Monday matters still occupied Hancock County School Board trustees Saturday as teachers' salaries, old bills, repairs, new construction and supply contracts came under discussion.

Speaking for all trustees, Eric Larsen, the board's vice president, said they were very fortunate and thankful to have been granted the millage increase and this was the time to compute a firm salary scale for all teachers based on monies now available.

County Superintendent Robert F. Ladner stated such was being done and two items concerning some would soon be presented for the personal and approval of trustees. One concerned a list of teachers that would be immediately affected by the new increase and the other a sliding scale showing the salaries of B, A and AA certified teachers with and without teaching experience.

"By keeping this tabulated illustration on hand," said Ladner, "it is my hope that B and A certified teachers within the system will see the advantage of obtaining a higher rating."

Hancock North Central School superintendent Chester H. Blalock presented several outstanding bills to the board with the explanation that he had found these at his educational plant and wished to get them cleared away.

"Some of these bills date back to 1961," said Blalock.

Teen Times

Before proceeding with the column we'd best explain that some teens are as much as three weeks old, so readers will have to be patient while we catch up with news our faithful little reporters have been busily turning in while we were on vacation. Our job would have been easier if no one had done anything in our absence, but parties, trips, birthdays, etc., are right on, even if we don't seem to be working.

One of the more interesting items is a report on skin diving by three local boys, Al Von Anst, Larry Rinehart and Danny Gordon, who have been practicing the sport with members of a Gulfport diving group, put their knowledge to good use on Friday, July 18. They were called to Singing River in Pascagoula to recover the body of a drowning victim lost the previous day. Despite a tremendous undertow in the deep water, their mission was successful. Now they are very much interested in forming a skin diving club in Hancock County. They need at least one adult to help supervise activities and would like to contact any newswriters who would like to join. Anyone interested may call AL, the only Von Anst in the local phone directory.

Key High cheerleaders Ellen McDonald, Mimi Jefferys, Sally Schmitt, Suzie Clark and David Compton won a ribbon in cheerleading competition at a recent camp held at Perkinson Junior College.

Birthday greetings go to Jimmy Morgan and Charles Neale who cut cakes on July 18 and 20th. In that order, Margaret McDowell was among those attending a Catholic Youth Organization leadership camp at Xavier Hall.

Local C.Y.O. members had a wonderful time at their picnic on Ship Island on July 27.

The junior members of the boy's C.Y.O. softball team won first place trophy in the Pass Christian tournament.

Nancy McDonald and Cynthia Thomas are among the latest to acquire driver's licenses. Doris Davis is now in Sandusky, Ohio visiting former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roseberry and daughters.

Laurie Keifer, Allison Trellis, Janet Trapani and Ursula Feyer were somewhat sleepy on Monday, July 26, as they returned home from a whirlwind weekend in Houston and Galveston, Tex. around 3 a.m. that morning.

Catchie Crider is home again after spending a week in Memphis, Tenn. where she visited her cousin Jane McRoberts and her parents.

Pete Peterson is due home next week after two years abroad as a member of the Peace Corps. Pete took advantage of his surroundings and did some travelling in Europe before returning to Clarksburg Harbor. Patsy Elliott is now working at T&EY.

Debbie and Tommy Bordages are scheduled to come home from Houston, Tex., over the weekend after vacationing at the home of their cousins, Wilton, Jeanne and Romie Paul White.

Lucille Giametta returned from Schenectady, N.Y. last Saturday. Among the many cities and places of interest visited during the trip were Atlanta, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit and New York City, Arlington National Cemetery and the World's Fair. While in Schenectady she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Remillard. Lucille traveled with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koberger of Gulfport and her two cousins (Cont. on Page 3-A.)

Buck Rogers is with us today. The comic-strip space exploits of a few years ago are swiftly becoming flesh-and-blood reality.

In Hancock County, Mississippi, a huge rocket test facility takes shape. A new breed of men — moon men — are busy engaged in a gigantic project designed to put an American on the moon by 1970.

Assisting these scientists and technicians in their quest for space is hard-working electric power. When NASA's Mississippi Test Facility becomes operational in 1966, electricity supplied by Mississippi Power Company will perform some of the most diverse and sophisticated tasks as powering computers, communications and communication networks — all vital functions of MTF's mission of testing Saturn rocket engines.

From lighting small incandescent lamps four decades ago to igniting moon rocket boosters today, abundant electric energy continues to assist man in his unending quest for knowledge.

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

President Johnson has confided to Congressional leaders that he expects to activate some National Guard and reserve units beginning in November or December.

In preparation, three National Guard divisions and several smaller Guard and reserve units will get more training, more equipment and more training to bring them up to combat level.

There are several important reasons the President did not issue a call up at the time he announced the doubling of the draft call:

1. He did not wish to couple the two announcements and alarm the Russians into increasing their own military strength or their participation in the war in Viet Nam.

2. He did not wish to alarm the U.S. unduly either. He would more time to condition the public to the necessities and sacrifices that face us in Viet Nam. He already is getting reaction of our public reaction to our stepped-up activities, and some of his Congressional counselors have told him that Viet Nam could mean his defeat in the next Presidential election if conditions continue to get worst and the Republicans switch tactics and begin denouncing "Johnson's War."

Note: At the same time that the President invited other nations to help find a peaceful solution in Viet Nam, he also called upon several of our allies secretly for a token military contribution to the war. He would like to show the world that this is not an American war, but a war of free men against communist tyranny.

A Conservative View By James J. Kilpatrick

A year ago this spring, the Yale Law Journal dedicated its May issue to Justice William O. Douglas, who was then observing the twenty-fifth anniversary of his appointment to the Supreme Court. To write the principal tribute, the Journal called upon one of its own former editors who had studied under Douglas at Yale from 1930 to 1933 and shortly afterwards had gone to Washington as Douglas's protégé.

This was, of course, Abe Fortas. Those who are speculating upon the probable role on the court of this brilliant advocate might find it a useful exercise to search out the piece (73 Yale L. J. 917). Ostensibly, Mr. Fortas was expounding the judicial philosophy of Mr. Justice Douglas; quite manifestly, he also was expounding the judicial philosophy of Mr. Justice Fortas.

"For a justice of this ultimate tribunal," Fortas wrote, "the opportunity for self-discovery and the occasion for self-revelation are usually great. Judging is a lonely job in which a man is, as near as may be, an island entire. The moment is likely to come when he realizes that he is, in essential fact, answerable only to himself."

Out of "this splendid isolation," said Fortas, Justice Douglas had fashioned a powerful testament of faith. His contributions to a reshaping of our basic law, especially in the past few years, had created a "pattern of greatness." Fortas warmed to the task of describing his mentor's position.

The key element is that government and the individual are equals—equal in right and dignity. Both are sovereign, and neither must infringe upon the rights and powers of the other. It is imperative that we have strong government. In the Douglas-Fortas view, government must have full power to tax, to regulate, to make the rules and to enforce them. Thus, in a broad range of situations, government may fix prices, define tolerable practices, regulate wages and working conditions, and take property for broadly defined public purposes upon careful payment of just compensation.

The broad powers of government cannot be permitted to infringe upon full rights of the individual. A high obligation exists

(and implicitly, it is a primary obligation of the courts) affirmatively to protect the weak from the strong, the minor from the major. Fortas spelled it out:

"The Negro, the indigent, the vagrant, the subversive, the suburbanite—these, too, are objects of solicitude. All—not just some—of our citizens must have counsel available to them if they are apprehended by the state. They must be protected from discrimination, from persecution, from deprivation of equal access to public facilities, broadly defined, from denial of freedom to travel, freedom to speak, freedom to be free."

In other parts of his article, Fortas lapsed into such lyrical praise of Mr. Justice Douglas that one may be faintly reminded of Jack Valenti on Lyndon Johnson. To be sure, as Dr. Samuel Johnson observed, in lapidary inscriptions men are not upon their oaths; and in twenty-fifth anniversary tributes, critical appraisals may be out of place. Even so, the intensity of this adulation is remarkable. It suggests that in his old professor, the court's newest member will find his guide on the bench.

Quite possibly, as it was said of John Marshall and the faithful Bushrod Washington, it may turn out that Douglas and Fortas will be commonly estimated as one judge. But if the history of the high court tells us anything, it tells us that judges are not always as predictable as the planets. Fortas will succeed to the seat once held by Joseph Story, who came on the court as a dangerously radical Democrat and in five years became a centralist second only to his eminent chief. In the splendid isolation, Mr. Justice Fortas will discover at first hand the truth of his reflections as a lawyer fifteen months ago. He, too, will be an island entire, and answerable only to himself.

Conservatives and strict constructionists will find no reason for pleasure in the Fortas appointment. On the record, he promises to follow in his master's paths of activism. But if a word of prophecy may be ventured, within ten years Mr. Justice Fortas will have carved out a reputation, for good or ill, as the honest intellect on the court since those other two professors, Douglas and Frankfurter, took their seats in 1939.

Unlocked Cars

Nearly 200,000 unlocked cars were stolen last year, we're informed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This includes a considerable number with keys actually left in the locks. This is a lot of unlocked automobiles and a lot of careless—not to say careless—owners.

It would be interesting to know why, with a car being stolen almost every minute of every day, many persons still don't lock this expensive piece of merchandise. True, a great many of the cars are eventually recovered. But the inconvenience of even a short time without transportation is considerable. The cost in taxes for law enforcement agencies is high. Nevertheless, an amazing number of persons still tempt the borderline delinquent with a "ready" machine.

The argument frequently used is that any experienced hoodlum can wire up a car's ignition system in a matter of seconds. This may be true, but a car with a key in the ignition is an open invitation, especially to a teen-ager who lives in a circle of society where a set of "wheels" is status.

This points up an aspect of the matter that can't be ignored: the driver has a moral obligation to make his car harder to steal. It is good citizenship, as well as plain common sense, to lock your car when you leave it—even if only for a few minutes.

The use of books is the major way for a civilized society. - Ricky Marshall.

Lottery foul up

A federal grand jury is secretly investigating Congressman Abraham Mulder of New York, who organized a lottery in Bermuda a few years ago. At the same time, he was a power on the House Banking Committee, which drafts the nation's banking laws.

Witnesses have charged before the grand jury that Mulder joined a group of Miami businessmen in establishing a multi-style bank in Nassau that could handle hot money through numbered accounts. To manage the Nassau bank, they hired C. Rogers, who had been a cashier at the Miami National Bank.

According to the testimony, the Congressman and the cashier soon became partners in the Bermuda lottery, which they operated out of their Nassau bank. The lottery was perfectly legal in Bermuda but, as it turned out, not in Nassau. As a result, the Nassau police moved into the bank and confiscated the lottery tickets. Ultimately, both the bank and the lottery failed.

Rogers was sent to prison for other misdeeds. He got to brooding about his plight and wrote a letter to the Justice Department complaining that he was being kept behind bars to prevent him from exposing Rep. Mulder.

A secret grand jury was convened, and Rogers was given his chance to testify. He swore, and other witnesses did likewise that the lottery tickets were printed in Ohio and shipped to the Bahamas, a violation of U.S. law. Witnesses also charged that $65,000 from the sale of lottery tickets mysteriously disappeared.

So far, however, witnesses have not proved that Rep. Mulder had anything to do with the printing of the tickets or the disappearance of the money.

Ailing Senators

Senators Russell of Georgia and Smathers of Florida were comparing notes the other day on their health. Both have had illnesses serious enough to make them wonder whether they should run for re-election.

But both have discovered that a siege of sickness no longer seems to be a political liability. The public performance of two famous heart patients, President Eisenhower and President Johnson, apparently has changed the public attitude toward ailing politicians.

Both Russell and Smathers reported that the news of their illness had brought in a deluge of sympathetic mail from their constituents, pledging to support them for re-election.

Guevara's whereabouts

The latest Central Intelligence report on the whereabouts of Cuba's missing economic czar, Ernesto "Che" Guevara, asserts he has been visiting his home province of Joruba, Argentina. He also made a stopover, according to the report, in Peru.

Guevara is an expert in using explosives for sabotage. It may be only a coincidence that a series of explosions has occurred in both Argentina and Peru.

Another intelligence report concerning Cuba warns that freebooting scientists have hired out as germ-warfare specialists to countries that want to develop secret biological-warfare research. Dictator Castro is reported to have hired some of these scientists to work in Cuba.

Experts agree that germ warfare formulas can easily be stolen, and the materials can be manufactured secretly and cheaply. A country as small as Cuba has the capability to produce the bacteria and the ability to use them.

Dread diseases could be spread by undercover agents in ways that would make it difficult to identify the culprit responsible. For example, frozen insects laden with disease germs could be scattered over an area. As the insects thawed, they would revive and become crawling deadly weapons.

Harriman's vacation

The so-called vacation of Averell Harriman illustrates how important an elder statesman can be in handling delicate diplomatic relations.

Harriman, in addition to having been governor of New York Secretary of Commerce and Deputy Under Secretary of State, once served as ambassador to Russia at a time when the Nazi armies were at the gates of Stalingrad and Russia was desperately dependent on the precarious line of supplies which the United States ferried over to the Gulf of Persia, then up through Iran to the beleaguered Soviet.

He is well known in Moscow not only because of this, but also because he was the negotiator of the Test Ban Treaty. In fact, Nikita Khrushchev once told me, joking of course, that he had offered Harriman a job as his economic adviser. Therefore, when Harriman sat down for a three-hour talk with Premier Kosygin, the two men had the advantage of having talked together during the dim and difficult wartime days. As a result, they were very frank with each other.

Kosygin told Harriman in detail that he had looked forward to increasingly friendly relations with the Johnson administration, but that the bombing of North Viet Nam plus the increasing U.S. military build up in South Viet Nam had soured this hope. It had also placed them in a most embarrassing position with the Chinese who for three years had been scolding and warning that it was foolish to trust the imperialist Americans.

Kosygin was very firm and at times quite bitter. He told Harriman bluntly that Russia could not and would not intervene to help the United States bring peace in Viet Nam. When a move would be misinterpreted throughout Asia as being toward imperialism. Kosygin didn't say so, but his attitude was identical with that of President Johnson's reaction. Johnson makes overtures for peace, he is accused by Sen. Jerry Ford, R-Mich., and his Republican critics, of being soft on communism.

Harriman acted as a reporter, not a negotiator. He did try to convey the Kremlin leaders of the deep sincerity of President Johnson in desiring peace, coupled with his determination not to bow to communist manipulation in South Viet Nam. He made some headway in this direction.

'Equal' opportunity

Who wants to become a beautician today? Choices open to her.

enroll in a private school of cosmetology for some $400 tuition, and, during the year, pay for her room, board, living expenses, and dental care, and for her clothing.

she can enroll in the Women's Job Corps. Quite a contrast.

The Office of Economic Opportunity recently established a woman's Job Corps center in St. Petersburg, Fla. There are 256 girls between the ages of 16 and 22.

Upon arrival, each girl receives $60 worth of clothing, $140 in charge accounts to be used during her stay—usually one year, and $30 allowance per month. She also receives $100 per month which is paid to her upon completion of the course. And she can receive up to $15 per month in "incentive" pay. Most girls receive this pay, in full.

The Job Corps center is located in the Huntington Hotel, The Huntington, valued on the tax records at $205,000, has been rented for 18 months at $25,000. It has been extensively remodeled, and kitchen and dining room linen alone cost $3,500. Staff members have a $21,000 a year travel expense account. Maids salaries come to $12,000 a year.

Then there is the cost of food, which, for 256 girls and staff members must approximate $200,000 a year. And there is an "entertainment" fund for girls and combos and other recreational facilities. There is a $1,000-a-month medical director and $12,000 health service budget for the first 18 months.

In addition, the center has arranged to pay the State Academy of Cosmetology $185 per year for each student it instructs.

Each Job Corps "student", therefore, will receive approximately $1,300 a year in cash, plus clothing, room, board, medical, and dental care, and her training as a beautician.

Is this equal opportunity? Most Americans, who have grown up with this kind of anti-poverty program out of their taxes, never had it so good. In fact, they would find the other way around: they had to pay for their education.

Is a Great Society for some—a Society in which the workers pay the losers.

This is because they may later be needed as high-type personnel, especially of technical, or in critical civilian roles where personnel shortage must be overcome in relation to the defense program.

All who are available will especially benefit from the education they can receive, academically and in leadership programs.

This is a patriotic duty as well as an advancement of self. Those who remain indifferent to it will likely regret it. Those who heed it will not matter what the defense program becomes. And in both areas of doing their best, the young will be better served by these trained young men.

The projected size of the armed forces, as now estimated, is headed toward approximately 2 million. It could easily become much larger in the future.

Attention is addressed to those of draft age, and to those who are younger, for the same interest in obtaining the best education available to them, with the time element on their side, being an uncertainty.

Charles L. Proffer and Associates were paid $31,618.37 by the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board on Monday for architectural services rendered to date in connection with the high school and renovations on existing buildings. The balance of monies due will be paid as further services are provided.

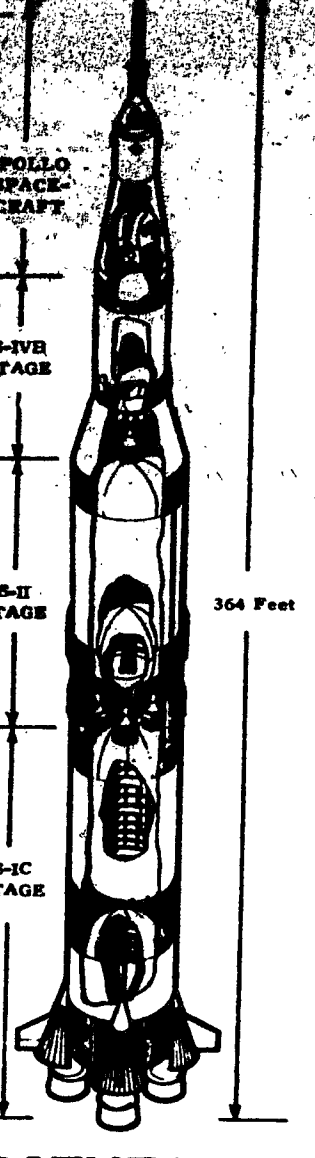

Following the payment, school board members examined bids for consumable supplies for the 1965-66 school year. Upon the motion of trustee T. Hennessey, a board member agreed to accept the lowest bid for consumable products. This was submitted by Shell Oil Co. and included oil products for the school buses.

Accompanying Super Service was accepted as the best bidder for three tubes and batteries, and to their availability and service. Others submitting bids were Sears Roebuck and Co. and Central Auto Supply, Inc.

Trustees agreed to accept consumable office supplies, typewriter and office machines, and the coming year, while they accepted the bid of The Office Supply Co., to maintain office machines and typewriters.

New and Save Fabrics of Bay St. Louis was the sole bidder for school uniforms. Upon the motion of Sam Whitfield, a board member agreed to accept the bid, as they thought it was the best.

The school superintendent went on to explain his position of paying all these accounts from his present budget even though it would leave him short of money in some departments. "This is not anything I've bought this year but I want you to know where the dollars went," said Blalock.

After reviewing several of the bills concerned, Supt. Ladner said some would have to be cleared by the board's attorney before payment.

Blalock then asked trustees if he could personally supervise all spending done at North Central to enable the school to stay within budget. Producing a printed form he explained that all proposed purchases would be listed thereon and submitted at regular intervals to the board for their approval.

Board president Edward P. Orrie promptly supported such a gesture as did all other trustees.

"We have been concerned about keeping within this budget," said Orrie, and, so far since his appointment, Blalock has been keeping very precise records.

Following along this line of business, trustees decided to grant Blalock permission to purchase all transportation purchases with a view to obtaining reasonably priced items and give the benefit of his previous experience to Arthur Necaise, transportation supervisor.

"Necaise is honest and trying to do a good job and with your help he can probably perform his functions in a superior manner," said Orrie.

The Practical Value of Buying where You Live

For instance . . . meditate for a minute on what a comfort it is to have people around you. Particularly people like doctors, plumbers, druggists, firemen, preachers, mechanics, taxpayers, and the like.

These all come with towns. Towns come with business. Your business. Every nickel you spend in some other town helps to send some of these handy people away from here.

Maybe it even helps to eliminate YOUR job. Certainly it decreases the profits on whatever business you are in, and reduces the value of any property you may own in this area.

We're social critters, and depend on each other for many things. But when you scratch somebody else's back, be sure he stands where he can scratch yours in turn.

Southern Realty take city crown

Southern Realty swept two straight contests from Chateau Sea in men's softball play at this week to capture the City Crown for the third straight year.

Bill Johnston's Realtors have brought home the City Cup for four years out of five.

Opening game in the play-off saw Southern Realty mow out a 15-8 decision over Chateau Sea by collecting 19 hits and making all their runs in three innings. Scoring went to the tune of, two, four, six, we've got the biggest sticks, as the Realtors hung-on seven tallies in the second, five in the fourth and three in the sixth.

Claude Yarborough enjoyed the best two nights of his softball career hitting eight for nine trips to the plate, 4-4 the first game and 4-5 the second night. Others sharing the spotlight with Yarborough were James Ginn 3-3 and Larry Mathis and Wilmer Seymour, 3-4.

In the deciding game of the best two out of three, Southern Realty kept the game on ice by jumping to an early two run lead in the second, adding six in the third and hitting two in the fifth and seventh frames, to score an 11-5 victory over the men in blue.

Chateau's Jim Mayfield 5-6, and Boogie Dean 4-6, Henry Noto, 3-6, were top sticks in the two game series.

Southern Realty committed six errors, completed five double plays and left 15 men on base to Chateau's nine errors, 14 men left on the sacks and three double plays. Both tallies for the two-game series.

SR's W. J. Cameron homer,

Mattie's triple and Yarborough's double, were the key extra base hits of the contests.

J. E. LOIACANO, JR.

Football coach named to BHS

With the opening of the 1965-66 school term, J. E. Loiacano, Jr., will assume the position of assistant football coach and physical education director according to J. McCullough, superintendent of Bay St. Louis Municipal State School District.

Loiacano, a graduate of St. Stanislaus College, Pearl River Junior College and Mississippi State University, with a B.S. in Physical Education and history, was lettered four years in high school, named All-American Jr. College half-back at PRJC and voted outstanding player at MSU.

Coach Loiacano will handle the linemen and work out with the backs, teaching them new offensive as well as defensive plays. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loiacano of Bay St. Louis.

Applications being taken for seedlings

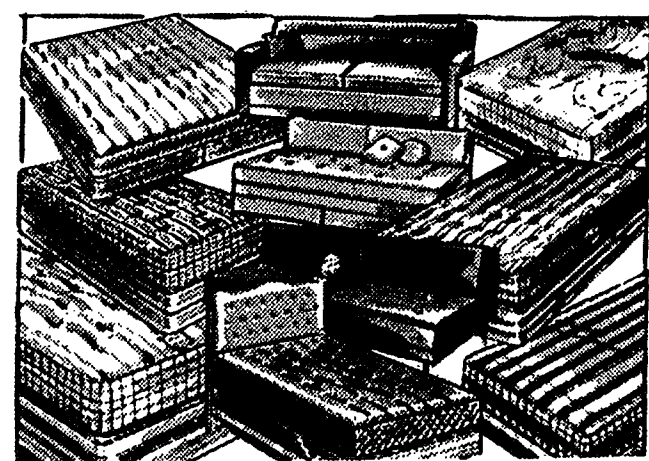

Application for tree seedlings to be planted during the 1965 season should be made immediately, according to Mississippi forestry officials.

Loblolly, slash, longleaf and shortleaf pine; yellow poplar, sweet gum, sycamore, bald cypress, black locust, green ash, red cedar, tupelo gum and cottonwood species are available this year.

Each landowner is eligible to receive 1,000 seedlings free by paying a delivery charge of 35 cents and seedlings above that number are obtainable at $4.50 per thousand plus the delivery fee.

Applications will be received through October 15 by the local area forester, county agent and other agricultural agencies. Orders of 25,000 or more, may be picked-up at the nursery but arrangements must be made in advance.

The only drawback to any vacation, aside from the fact that one inevitably has to return to work, is that it takes weeks to get caught up... especially when news is concerned. All of this leading up to the fact that we're way behind and we're asking our readers to be patient and try to act as if some weird alish items happened only yesterday. We made the mistake of trying to catch up all at once and as a result had reams of copy left over... so lets wade through that before proceeding to more current topics.

An apology is due Gm Maurigi for whom the highly successful ball tournament and shooting match was held at Stanislaus stadium Sunday. Gm has only been ill since last September, not for several years as stated in a sports story in last week's issue. Never-the-less, he has had much costly treatment and two operations during that time which would put an awful drain on any pocketbook.

Fishing news

We hate to sound repetitious, but the Lang found an even larger number of fish at the same mysterious location as last Saturday. Once again they almost jumped out of the water seeking hooks. The party included Mrs. Lang (Leah), Mary and Mac McCall, Julia and Clarence Duvaldeh; the trip was Julia's first real boat fishing jaunt, and talk about beginner's luck—she really played the big trout. Pat and Albert Mandelle (Pat's Mac McCall's sister) were equally successful, and your reporter and daughter Catchie completed the group. Catchie caught her share and really put Mamma to shame, but guess who won the pool for catching the largest fish???? yep... none other than yours truly, we'll have to confess it was only a shark! But it was big!

Around town

Sorry to hear that Phyl (Mrs. Jimmy) Lagasse's almost new automobile was demolished in a head on collision last Thursday on Panton Road, but fortunately she, her daughter, Jeanne, and a friend, escaped injury in the mishap.

Buddy (Dr. Adrian) Hava and his mother, Mrs. Clarence Hava entertained at a buffet dinner at their Nicholson Avenue home in honor of Sister Jeanne Vienn, who teaches in the Order of St. Joseph in New Orleans, on the occasion of her Feast Day which was Sunday. Among those present were her aunt and uncle, Lucy (Mrs. Joe) Mollere and R.G. (Manny) Hubbard with wife, Dot, and children, Bob, Sally, David and Rickey; Laurie and Duke (also Dr.) Hava and two and one-half (roughly) children as they are again on the stork's itinerary; Marie and Luke Leconovich and daughter, Kathleen; Mrs. Horace Thompson, Sr., Susan Thompson and Pick and Warren Turpin. Ethel and Horace Thompson and children, Bruce, Carolyn and Susan, returned home Friday after spending eight days vacationing in Nassau in the Bahamas. The family flew down in Horace's brand new twin engine plane, which he, of course, piloted.

Larry and Harry Ward dropped in on her sister, Etheline, and husband Lathon Garriga, enroute to a second (or third, or maybe, fourth), honeymoon weekend on the Golden Gulf Coast. The Wards live in Baton Rouge.

One of our local celebrities, Luke (Sonny) Saucier, and wife Betty Lee, nee Mitchell, were home over the weekend. Sonny doubles for Chuck Connors of tv and movie fame. His mother is Mrs. Gertrude Saucier of Bay St. Louis and New Orleans. They dropped in on Bea and George Georgi while in the area.

John Glover left Sunday for Kansas City, Mo., where wife Marti is scheduled to undergo major surgery.

Really belated is our birthday wish to Gertrude Sauer. Husband Larry surprised her with a party on Friday, July 16. Among guests were the George Wetzel, the A.J. Butz, the Bill Glossingers, the William Rineharts, the Nate Montaneros and Ben Delanzo.

Another apology... this time to Sara Thorning whose lovely granddaughter's picture appeared in last week's society section, but Sara was erroneously mentioned as Mrs. George Thorning when it should have been Mrs. Joseph Thorning.

Wonderful wedding

Any real Cajun will know what we mean when describing Peggy Garcia and Colin Klein's wedding reception as a real three-potage affair. It was almost too fabulous for mere words. The ceremony at St. Clare's was most impressive and Peggy was beautiful in ivory peau de soie featuring a full length sheath with matching long sleeved coat and a mass of veiling attached to a tiny crown of seed pearls and stones. Her attendants wore shall pink styled much like her gown and four tiny flower girls, short frocks in the same shade, Mattie (Mrs. Lloyd) Garcia, mother of the bride chose a soft shade of blue; her grandmother, Mrs. Ben Peterson also wore blue, as did Mrs. Klein but in a darker hue. St. Clare's parish hall was decorated with white stock and gladioli serving tables, laden with an apparently un-exhaustable supply of delicious food, were placed on both sides of the room. Dancing was to an excellent orchestra and just some of those present included: Beulah and Frank Peterson, Gloria and Herbert Peterson, Lillian and Harold Garcia, the El Garcias, Isobel and Melvin Villere, Pat and David Garcia (who are on the stork's list for the third time); Barbara and Collins Lawton, Eunice and Fannie Favre, Doris and Baldwin Wilkey, Helen and Dan Sellen, Lottie and Garfield Ladner, Grace and Loyal Bordages, the Ed Kreigars, the Lemmie Ruppe, Maizie (Mrs. Ducre) Bourgeois, Betty and Frank Klein, Jr., Elsie (Mrs. John) Klein, Claudia and Frank Klein, Vivian Simms, Mary and Joe Rousseaux (Joe, by the way, looking fully recovered from his recent serious illness); Josie and Clarence Herbig, Laura and Fred Ruper, Elaine Davis, Marion (Mrs. Russell) Elliott, the Robert Petersons and umpteen others in— (Cont. on Page 4-B.)

DEVELOPING READING SKILLS - Among 30 participants who completed the NDEA Summer Reading Institute for Elementary Teachers and Supervisors, held at the University of Southern Mississippi June 14- Aug. 6, were from left, standing, Mrs. Juanita Reynolds, of Lumberton; Mrs. Vernelle L. Dear, Piquette; Mrs. Lorena Johnson, Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Barbara M. Dillon, Columbia. Demonstrating new methods in teaching reading are, seated, Miss Mary Anne Baird, supervisor of reading, Brookhaven Independent School District, staff member; and Terrie Ward, Hattiesburg, one of the pupils. Co-sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education and USM, the institute was directed by Dr. Eric L. Thurston, director of the USM Reading Clinic.

Miss Mohr presented with 500-hour pin

Miss Henrietta Mohr was presented a 500-hour pin in recognition of her years of faithful service with the Hancock County Hospital Auxiliary during a meeting of that group on Thursday.

After an opening prayer, read by Mrs. Herbert Wise, a letter from Miss Verette Lind, the second Candy Stripper to receive a nursing scholarship from the auxiliary, was read by Mrs. A.M. Ortte, president. Upon hearing of Miss Lind's acceptance at Mercy Hospital in Vicksburg, members immediately voted to set aside further monies for her use this year. Another letter, from Mrs. Leo Seal, in which she expressed her appreciation for an ornamental electric clock recently presented to her by the auxiliary to thank her for the use of her home for meetings, was also read.

Dedication date for the new Pepperdine wing has been set for Aug. 25 and various Pink Ladies will work in shifts to conduct tours of the new facility. During discussion members made arrangements for the open house to be held in conjunction with the event.

Mrs. Jules Toledano distributed copies of the by-laws she had prepared. Anyone wishing a copy may obtain same from Mrs. A. M. Ortte.

Express agency moves to Gulfport

Raymond H. Raymond, Jr., who last handled the local agency, said RRA officials have told him they will resume business here when arrangements can be made to secure suitable help. Some eight or ten applicants for the job were checked when Raymond disclosed the problem of keeping the office here earlier in the summer. Persons living outside the corporate limits of Bay St. Louis must pick up and dispatch their express at Gulfport. The truck service is only those within the city proper.

cluding some Waveland newcomers, Barbara and H. John Crummer, who purchased the old Parvati home on the corner of Pine and Tida Streets in Waveland after his retirement from the U.S. Navy with over 20 years of service. He's now employed Gulf Chevrolet. We also met his very entertaining stepfather and Mr. and Mrs. Archdale, uncle and aunt of the groom, from New Orleans.

From my notes

The new Sea Breeze apartments at Clearmont Harbor are owned and operated by Lennie Rupp of Clearmont and New Orleans.

Bette (Mrs. Will) Hill tells of a wonderful time on her month long vacation during which she drove over 3,000 miles all by herself. She first visited her brother, Jess Walker, in her hometown, Louisville Ky., where she also spent some time with her nephews, Eaton and Sam Walker, and families. She then went to Chicago to see her mother, Mrs. Genith Walker, and on to Arlington Park, Wis., for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Paul Thomas.

Equine enthusiasts will have a field day come Saturday, when Betty (Mrs. Omar) Haas, the former Betty Younger, presents her first horse show since her marriage and becoming a mamma. There will be 16 events and we have an idea Little Kathy Haas, who literally learned to ride before she could walk, will be a star attraction. Betty and other local riders, Ellen Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Favre, Bobby Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Moore and Jack Reinhardt, brought home lots of trophies and ribbons from recent shows in Laurel, Poplarville, Pica-yune, Gulfport and Covington, La.

We have several, but the fact that Central Avenue (although it will always be Railroad to us) was closed without notice on Sunday, a couple of weeks ago, to relocate the spur track at the Enameling Plant. In the first place there is more traffic in summer on Sundays than any other day, and if the thoroughfare must be closed, certainly motorists should have been warned before entering the street.

VOTE YOUR INTELLIGENCE.. (not your emotions)

The Congress of the United States has enacted "The Voting Rights Bill of 1965". Unwise and unfair as we believe this Act to be, it is not the edict of a dictatorial president or the questionable interpretation of a court; it is an act of Congress! As such, the Voting Rights Act is the Law of the Land, and is binding upon Mississippi and all her citizens.

This is a fact which must be faced by every Mississippian.

Fiery oratory will not alter this fact or protect our people from its consequences.

Reckless defiance of federal authority to enforce this Act will invite and, in the eyes of the World, justify further invasions of the sovereignty of this state.

Resentment displayed by Mississippians—either at the polls or in the streets—will produce nothing of value; rather, "telling the rest of the United States to go to Hell" will make Mississippi once again the prime target of radical agitators, the prime excuse for punitive federal legislation, the favorite "whipping boy" of the nation.

In today's circumstances, the most effective defense of "States' Rights" is state responsibility... responsible, adequate action on the state, county and local level. Intelligent action. Realistic action. Calculated action.

Only through calm study and reasoned actions can Mississippians hope to thwart the efforts of those who are dedicated to the destruction of local self-government.

This is the course chosen by your duly-elected state government. The Constitutional Amendments submitted for your approval at the polls on Tuesday, August 17, are no "overnight" propositions. They are the results of months of study and planning, of seeking the best available alternative to the potential chaos promised by the federal Voting Rights Act.

TAKE YOUR STAND

The new federal Voting Rights Act suspends all literacy and character qualifications for voting, as they apply to Negroes... but leave the Whites subject to Mississippi's strict voter requirements. The resulting "two sets of rules" leave the Whites at a disadvantage. Federal registrars, from the nation-at-large, will be sent to Mississippi with the aim of registering all adult Negroes regardless of character or ability to read and write. Many Whites will remain ineligible to vote.

The old Mississippi laws and Constitutional provisions setting qualifications for voting clearly are struck down (as they apply to Negroes) by the new federal Act; therefore, any effort through the courts to obtain relief from this Act is unlikely to succeed.

The "attitude" Mississippians display to a watching nation is important to building support for our conservative cause, to increasing Mississippi's influence in national affairs, and to continuing the now-rapid flow of job-creating businesses and industries into our economy. Public opinion nationally, which has proven its ability to bear upon Mississippi affairs, will interpret any sizeable vote against the Amendments as a sign that ignorance and prejudice rule Mississippi, and that the White people of this state are not interested in cooperating with their sister states for the advancement of the nation of which we all are a part.

Approval of the Amendments will mean that White Mississippians can register and vote under the same lenient rules which the federal Voting Rights Act has made applicable to Negroes. In terms of numbers, the disadvantage of the Whites under the federal Act will be removed, and 400,000 White voters can be added to the rolls in a statewide White registration campaign.

The Constitution of the United States provides that the qualifications of voters are to be fixed by the Legislature of each state. The United States Supreme Court repeatedly has announced this rule. If the Amendments win approval at the polls on August 17, all questions clouding the acceptability of Mississippi's voting laws will be removed and a legal attack will be made upon the Constitutionality of the federal Voting Rights Act, and/or upon the applicability of that Act's provisions to Mississippi, under circumstances most favorable to success.

To a watching nation, which has begun to note the significant progress Mississippi is making through responsible state government, sound fiscal policies, maintenance of law and order, and one of the most aggressive economic development programs in America, an overwhelming vote FOR the Amendments on August 17 will confirm that modern Mississippi has indeed cast off a century of negative defense and has assumed the offensive in this fight.

LEADERS OR DEMAGOGUES

The Constitutional Amendments on which you will vote August 17 are not part of a "governor's program", nor are they a political issue in the factional sense. Leaders who disagree about many things agree that approval of the Amendments is the wisest course for Mississippi under today's circumstances.

Who are these "leaders" who speak out FOR the Amendments?

They are your duly-elected state officials—your Governor, your Lieutenant-Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and every state officer in a position of responsibility who has expressed himself. They are your Legislators, who voted by more than two-thirds in both houses to submit the Amendments for your vote. They are the most prominent business, civic and educational figures in Mississippi—thoughtful, intelligent leaders who understand fully the impact upon our state of strife, disunity and the enmity of our fellow Americans.

Look and see who are the leaders FOR the Amendments.

Then, look and see who is speaking out against the Amendments... and form your own conclusions as to which leaders are more capable, stable, and knowledgeable about the problems and opportunities confronting our state.

See and hear Governor Johnson discuss these issues and Mississippi's future on television—election eve—August 16
